One-Stop Partners' Expo a Success

Housing, employment and training opportunities offered

DECATUR, Ga – Over 80 participants attended the DeKalb Workforce Development Partners' Expo to gain valuable information from the 21 agencies providing information on housing, employment and training opportunities, mental health counseling, child support information and youth services. Georgia Vocational Rehabilitation Agency, Goodwill of North Georgia, Georgia Piedmont Technical College (GPTC) and The Center for Working Families were among the agencies represented at the Expo.

“Being able to empower participants with the knowledge to help them achieve a goal of employment or training for positions is vital to the success of DeKalb County,” said Interim CEO Lee May. “We were able to provide access to multiple services in one place.”

Georgia Vocational Rehabilitation answered questions about how they help individuals with disabilities. The Center for Working Families helps hard-to-employ adults find a position that will lead to financial stability and growth. Goodwill of North Georgia handed out information about current open positions in their stores and how donations help put people to work.
